Bunny

Author's Note:

Max's head space is 1-2 years

The whole party was in Mike's basement waiting for Steve and Robin to arrive and take them to the new mall. Max walked over and sat on the couch next to El and played with her fingers. She looked around, noticing Will sitting on Mike's lap and smirked. She was the only one that knew about Will's crush on the Wheeler boy. Will caught her smirk and blushed while winking at her. She made a mental note to ask him about it later.

Robin and Steve arrived ten minutes later and ushered everyone into the car. They drove to the mall a couple states over. Hoping she brought clothes, El looked over at Max and smiled. She knew that her precious girlfriend was slipping. El wrapped her arm around her shoulder and kissed the side of her head. Max smiled and chewed on her lower lip a little.

"Come on everyone out go to your rooms put everything away then we can go to the mall," Robin said handing everyone their key cards. Max took the card from her and walked to the room her and El were sharing. El walked after her slowly. She opened the door and set her bag on the floor next to the nearest bed. El closed the door and started to put their stuff away. Max watched her, silently. "We're going to the Mall love you wanna change?" She asked not even looking up from the drawer. Max shook her head softly and looked at the hair pin with a bunny on it. El looked at her and smiled. "You wanna wear it Princess?" Max nodded fastly and giggled. "Bunny," she pointed to it.

El smiled and put the clip in her hair, "Yes love, Bunny."

After 20 minutes of whining, Steve finally took them to the mall. "Stay together," he told them as he walked off with Robin. El, Max, and Will quickly pulled away from the group and went to the stores with the most color. Max walked around the store sporting all kinds of cute knickknacks when she spotted a pastel pink pacifier with a bunny on it. She picked it up with shaking hands and walked over to

El. "Hey love whatcha got there?" Max handed her the pacifier and smiles. "You want me to buy it sweetie?" Max nodded and blushed. Will walked over to them. "Hey you guys done?" He was holding a slightly larger bag and Max wondered what he had gotten. "Yea I'm just gonna go pay. How about you and Max go to the next store I'll be right there."

Max walked around the mall. She had gotten a few shirts, some skirts which was entirely El's fault, a couple new stuffies, some rattles, new hair pins, and sneakers. They met up with the boys at the pet store. Max spotted a very small looking rabbit. It had a white body with little brown spots on its nose and its ears where a nice shade of brown. She rapidly tapped El's shoulder, not taking her eyes off the small animal. "Yes sweetheart what it is?" El turned to look at her and Max just pointed to the small ball of fluff and smiled. She looked at her girlfriend with her most famous puppy dog eyes and a small pout. "Max I don't think our parents would be happy about us bringing home an animal," Eleven hated to see her girlfriend upset, but she didn't know how she would explain why they came home with an animal instead of new jeans or dresses.

Max walked into the pet store with Will. She immediately went over to the small bunny while Will looked around. "Would like to hold him?" Max looked over to the nice lady and nodded. "Yes please," The elderly woman took the rabbit out of its small cage and handed it to her. "Be very gentle," Max cradled the small bunny in her arms smiling at Will. "Its so tiny," he smiled as he walked over to her. "It'll be a shame if we don't find this little guy a home soon." Max frowned at what the lady said and smirked. "How much it he?" She asked handing the small animal back to her.

Max and Will walked out of the store with the cage and a couple accessories and needs for the rabbit. "What did you guys do?" Mike looked at the small cage. "I tried to stop her but it was just too cute too pass up." Will smiled handing Mike some of the bags. Steve and Robin walked up to them with a handful of bags. "Is that a Rabbit?" Max nodded and smiled. "El's gonna be pissed at you, you know that right?" She looked at Mike and flipped him off. El walked up to them, not noticing the animal Max had bought. "Ok so the food courts not tha- MAXINE MAYFIELD." Max nearly dropped the cage right then and there. Will took everything from her hands as El dragged her to the bathroom.

"What did I tell you Max." Max looked down and sniffed. "No bunny," She wiped at her nose. "And what did you do Maxine? You bought the Bunny after I said no." Max looked at her hands, "But-" "No buts Max. You didn't listen to me. Your lucky I don't pull you over my lap and spank you right here." All the color left Max's face as she whined. "Enough. Let's go they're waiting for us," She picked up her bags and walked out of the bathroom. Max wiped her eyes and followed her. "Ok so as I was saying the food court-" Max zoned out of the conversation, walking very slowly behind the group.

Max sat next to Will and Robin eating her fries and drinking her chocolate shake. "So what are we gonna do about the rabbit situation?" Steve looked at them, "What Rabbit situation?" El glared at Max, "Well my dumbass of a girlfriend decided to buy a rabbit." Max looked down at this and Will rubbed her arm. "Wait girlfriend?"

Max sat in the car as Elevn and Mike argued. "If you too don't stop fighting I swear to God I will take you straight home." Mike and El glared at each other the whole way to the hotel. "Ok we're here go to your rooms. I don't wanna hear another peep." All the kids got out and went to their rooms.

"Maxine Mayfield get your ass back here," Max stopped walking towards the bathroom and turned around. "Come here now," Max walked over to her. "Maxine you know I hate punishing you baby but what did I say sweetheart," El played with her hair and sighed. "No Bunny," Max's bottom lip quivered. "And what did you do Love?" "I bought bunny." El pulled the small girl onto her lap. "It's ok my love it's ok. But we're gonna get in trouble princess," she kissed her head and rocked her back and forth. "Mommy I sorry," Max sniffled and hugged her tight. "It's ok princess. I'm not mad love mommies not mad at you," El kissed her head and shushed her.

It's been a week since the kids went to the mall and came back. To say the adults were upset would be an understatement. "Girls we're heading out! Wills in his room, and Jonathan's at Nancy's. Call if you need anything," Joyce and Hopper closed the door and the girls came out of El's room. Max sat on the floor of the living room playing with her small rabbit while El made pancakes. "Princess come eat!" Max ran with the rabbit to the kitchen. El picked her up and put her in the highchair. "Will! Pancakes come on!" Will ran out of his room at that and sat next to Max and her rabbit. They had decided to name it after Billy, Max's desced brother. El gave Will a plate of pancakes with syrupy and berries. She gave max a plate of small pancakes with syrup and a sippy cup full of chocolate milk. After the kids ate Will played with Max for a little while El cleaned up.
